User / Task Analysis Sample Questions:

Describe the organization: Is it a community, e.g. slashdot.org, a business, a non-profit group, etc. What are its goals and objectives and what services does it provide.

ANSWER: This website is aimed toward the educational community. Specifically, Mercer's community needs to be aware of the programs offered by CCPS. That is what I'm here for.

Describe the projected user community. What are their demographics: age, sex, education levels, computer literacy, interests, etc.

ANSWER: The projected community should consist of young adults to middle age adults(18-45). The subject matter in the website is aimed towards "techy" individuals or people with interests in informatics

What are the users trying to learn and/or accomplish at the web site? The users are learning about informatics

What are their goals and objectives. How will they accomplish these? Their goal is to register in the programs listed on the website.
